Assignment IV

Write a C program that will read an object file (*.o) and will print file offsets of all the relocation entries of the .text. You may also try to print the names of the objects for which the relocations are necessary (this information is available in the file).

Do not use any standard utility e.g. readelf, objdump, nm etc.